Below is a list of non-accessible content with which people with disabilities might experience difficulties:

- Labels or instructions are not always provided when content requires user input (unlabeled form fields) (9.3.3.2);
- For some components, name, role, and value cannot be correctly determined (disallowed ARIA roles; buttons and controls lacking accessible names) (9.4.1.2);
- Information and relationships conveyed through structure cannot always be programmatically determined (invalid lists; incorrect semantic structure) (9.1.3.1);
- The purpose of some links cannot be determined from the link text alone (links lacking descriptive text or having identical text but different destinations) (9.2.4.4);
